Friendships are made, love is sought, tragedy flirted with and transformation found in this true gem of a movie about the innocent and hopeful Daisy on her way to follow her dream of becoming a "major musical sensation" in Nashville. Shot on a micro-budget with the cast essentially doubling up as crew, this heartfelt and emotionally explosive film has great performance all round. Writer/Director, Parrack, serves up an adorable yet gut-wrenching turn as a whistful and compassionate dreamer, looking for love and running from pain. The film is also supported by a powerhouse performance by the stunning, Jennifer Black and Andrea Dantas, who masterfully navigates a wonderfully, complex role. The film has already found a distributor so if you love great stories and great performances, don't miss the opportunity to catch this film when it is released. Stay tuned here for updates!
